Brave to Quit You
by Zoë Ashe-Browne

How much bravery does it take to leave something that fits but is no longer fulfilling? Brave to Quit You explores the break down of a long term partnership.

Within This Party by Amir Sabra
Finding the personal/intimate within the collective, Within This Party is an improvisational dance performance based on the Palestinian traditional dance "Dabkeh" and hip-hop dance.

Tearmann Aiteach/Queer Sanctuary by Isabella Oberländer & Fearghus Ó Conchúir
An ongoing exploration of queer flourishing and solidarity. A developing choreographic process, an exploration how to make malleable spaces of queer sanctuary that support emergent identities.

Actions (now) by John Scott
Funny and tender and human, Actions is performed like a 'work in progress' - the dancers engaged in a task of executing difficult and exerting dance but also commenting on the dance, their states of mind.

16:30 DOUBLE BILL OF WORKS IN PROGRESS
The Game Research by Jill Crovisier
A highly inclusive international project which - through the lens of choreography, movement and sound design - explores the theme of games in different cultures, within different social groups and between individuals. Madrid, Luxembourg, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and now Tipperary.

Sentient by Liz Roche Company
In a space somewhere between social urgency and the wonder of nature, Sentient offers a new interpretation of what it is as a human being to be only one part of our natural world in its vast communicative complexities.

STAC Chapel, Clonmel
